

The Lion

(Price's School Magazine).

July, 1918.

VOL. IV., No. 10.

B R Scott

Contents.

Editorial	63
Verse	66
Hockey—
House Matches	67
Retrospect, 1918	68
Characters of the XI.	68
Cricket—
Matches	70
Corps Notes	77
Shooting Notes	78
School News	80
Old Boys' News	80
Correspondence	81
Notice to Subscribers	81
Notice to Correspondents	82

Editorial.

CHIVALRY, ANCIENT AND MODERN.

"MANNERS MAKYTH MAN."

IT is said—we know not on what authority—that the Governors of a certain "College" in the Far West met in solemn conclave to decide upon a crest and motto for their learned establishment. History does not relate anything definite about the former, but, as regards the latter, it says that, after many days of wearisome discussion, the magnates decided to "adapt and modernize" the motto of some famous old school "across the herring-pond," and so combine antiquity of expression with up-to-date significance. The result, so we are told, appeared in gilded letters across the portals of the "College" for all and sundry to see and inwardly digest. It read, "Dollars makyth Man." Poor Winchester! Alas, for the outraged feelings of the Shade of William of Wykeham!

Now, whether this story be true or false we care not, for it serves the only purpose we have for it admirably, in that it carries on its face a palpable moral, viz., to what American "liberty, equality, and fraternity" might come. We do not say that all things American are to be shunned by every right-minded Englishman; that were mere folly. We do say, however, that one way of looking at the typical American is in that sense which he himself is proud to accept, i.e., an "emancipated Englishman"—as he would probably put it, what an Englishman might be, were he only freed from the swaddling-clothes, red tape, and general humbug with which he allows the Past to bind and cramp him on every side. We are not "pushing" enough, says Uncle Sam; we have too little courage where taking anything like a new line is concerned; we have a great past behind us, a fact which we are pleased to recall at decidedly inconvenient times, those psychological moments in the fortunes of every great nation which call for daring originality on the part of someone or other of its sons. Now, we do not say that there is no truth in the accusation—far from it; it is only too true in many, many things connected with the fortunes of Great Britain and her dependencies. We do not, however, propose to follow the argument out in its larger issues. We will take a smaller matter, which affects us more nearly, and see how we can defend ourselves from the scornful insinuations of our Western brethren. Let Winchester give us the cue and the text: Manners makyth man, say we of England, secure in the fact that the oldest Public School in the world, almost, is behind us. Now, America objects to this—we will not take the extreme case of the scholastic personages we have already spoken of, but will confine ourselves to generalities. Says Uncle Sam, "What you call 'polish' is a counsel of perfection. It may help on a man, but it will not do it solidly—in the way of business and commerce, for example. Give a man a good head for business, the faculty of seeing far ahead of his fellows (or most of them), a fair capital, a flexible conscience, and he will carve out a path for himself in the world, if he has grit." When asked for proofs in the flesh, he produces a score of millionaires—"self-made men"—and holds them up to the admiration of the world. We have all met them some time or other; for we have not to cross the seas to do so nowadays. They are ubiquitous. They are for the most part mannerless—English Society has long ago excused them that which is to the native born a sine qua non, when they wish to enter its little world. The nouveaux richesses, the parvenus, the "creature who made his 'pile' in pork and sausages"—so shunned, so despised five-and-twenty years ago—they all have unlocked with the only key they have (a golden one) the gates of social success. The second generation of "America in England" will find no obstacle of any kind to a brilliant career in Society and the world at large—quite the opposite. The son of the oldest and most honoured dukedom in England will smoke and sip in perfect contentment with the son of the quondam dry goods' dealer in a back street of New York City. "How good and how pleasant," cries the blatant Socialist; "it is a sign of the coming Emancipation of the Oppressed and Downtrodden Lower Classes of the Great English-speaking Race which shall Rule the World and Found the Golden Age!" Yes, my Nunquam-in-embryo, it is a sign of the days to come; that is, if more Englishmen give heed to you, and, in "forgiving and forgetting" the Past of the New America in England, barter their own most glorious Past. The very English language is bowing down to "emancipation" of American grammarians—"altho'" the "center" whence it originated and the "theater" where it originally played its part is Merrie England. Take a volume of Shakespeare, write him in Yankee "English," and take prussic acid to relieve your agonizing pains! Take Cardinal Newman's pellucid, enrapturing, enthralling prose and write him more Americano—and create a sensation in ecclesiastical circles by "going over" to the Coptic Church in order to get out of the abominable modernness of to-day into the sweet calm of the seventh century!

We promised, however, to come nearer home, and now that our pen has run away with us into the enticing regions beyond things merely academic, we shall have to make our say considerably shorter than we had at first intended. Let us go back to the text: Manners makyth man. Manners—that is, the Chivalry of the twentieth century, the science and art of being gentlemen. All the world knows, though all the world does not openly admit it, nowadays, that gentlemen are born, not made. Nature and the Past are their progenitors. They are the lineal descendants of King Arthur and Sir Galahad, of the Crusaders, of the Cavaliers; they are the Past living in the Present—as it does in everything—only its guise is changed to suit the times. The olden chivalry is dead as far as the outward pomp and circumstance which clothed it in the past are concerned, but its spirit has descended in a double, yea, a treble portion upon the gentlemanliness of to-day. Now, there are those amongst us—there may be some, many or few in the school itself—who would have us climb down our pedestals, throw away our chivalry, with all its meaning and all its association with the past. “Come, let us be men!” say they, “let us be men, and nothing more.” We are all men already, more or less; and a well-bred man is a man of parts, and something more than a mere man. We say then to these hawkers of mushroom ideas on “men” and things, “No, thank you!” We have only to look back four or five hundred years to see the reason. We appeal to history—they cannot meet us there. Their ideas came from America in a cattle boat. They came to America from La Rochelle in a Bonnet Rouge—red with the blood of the chivalry of France murdered in the Revolution. “Ah, Liberty! How many crimes are committed in thy name!” cried Madame Roland, when her turn came. “Ah, Liberty! we have seen you before!” say we, as we see the huge idol of “Emancipated England” set up in New York Harbour. Not that America has nothing good in her—she is no modern Nazareth amongst the nations. She is full of life and spirits; she has a future ahead of her. She is, nevertheless, an entity in herself; she must work out her own ends with her own ideas, and her own resources, not with ours. We cannot afford to let her buy up our history and our prestige with which to clothe herself in the World’s Parliament. Let her keep to her Stars and Stripes; then there will be no fear of mistaking her in evil moments of the world’s history. It is the old story of foes in one’s household—and these in ours are to be shunned, not for their peculiar treasons, but rather because, knowingly or ignorantly, they are prosecuting the cause of an outside power. They think they are working for themselves; it may be. They think they see already the first glint of the golden future wherein they are to shine and do great things—in reality, if that Golden Age ever does come, they will be absolutely trodden underfoot by the unseen foe entering in triumphant at the gate their efforts have shattered open. England is full of the past; it is graven upon her face as clearly as the present is on every yard of the domains of Uncle Sam; and, with all his boasted up-to-dateness, he would dearly like to have these "relics" for his own. "They ain't much to look at, that's true, but I calculate it's the age of 'em that makes 'em interesting!" said a Yankee in our hearing some time ago while "doing" a famous Chapter Library. Exactly so, and we—young England—are the librarians of our national past, and must one day render a strict account of our care of them. We, too, here are in the midst of a district imperishably linked with the past. Winchester—Netley, and Portsmouth with "The Victory," all speak to us and set their seal upon us, bidding us go forward in the spirit of the past. The olden chivalry indeed is dead—we would not have it otherwise, for it would be ridiculous and meaningless to-day—but long live the New Chivalry, which enshrines the spirit of the old. Come, let us be gentlemen!

"A bolde Knyghte rode out to the Weste,
All crimsone was his plumèd creste,
HIGHE CHIVALRIE was al hys queste,
For God and for hys Ladye!"

Verse.

SONG OF THE NETS.

For sardine, mackerel, salmon, herring, ling,
Or Tirpitz U-boat wide I spread my wing;
All easy victims to my fold I bring,
To you, O Tritons, a vain song I sing.

I'm sprayed, I'm mown, I'm rolled, my guys are taut,
My pegs of toughest chalybs have been wrought;
For talents ten of Gamage was I bought;
In spite of all, my charms are set at naught.

To lob, full-pitch, to yorker and long-hop,
Round-arm, bail-kisser, googly, donkey-drop,
Off-drive, leg-glance, late-cut, slice, pull or chop,
I ope' my kindly wings, and each one stop.

The Seconds, Thirds and Fourths towards me hie,
And even minnows of a lesser fry;
Ye heroes of the First, O tell me why
Of my allurements have ye fought so shy?

Heard off a Lee Shore, 1918.

Hockey.

THE HOUSE MATCHES.

CAMS v. WESTBURY.

These two teams were very evenly balanced, and the result was never certain. The defence was stronger than the attack on each side. The backs played well, and Reeves, after getting over "hand-ball," played quite a good game. In a game where excitement prevailed over skill, some good points were shown. Chignell played really well, and deserved all the goals he scored, and Baker, though obviously not at home in the centre, did some good work; Cheesewright scored with a well-directed shot, and Dore crossed the goal—the best of the match. Lee, judging that offence was the best policy, shot three hard goals, and would have scored more with kindlier posts. Kirk was ubiquitous and untiring in his efforts to get through. The game suffered chiefly from the weakness of the outside forwards. Cams won both Junior Matches.

WESTBURY v. SCHOOL HOUSE.

In this match School House spent rather more than the first half in profound slumber, and at half-time looked like a badly defeated team, owing largely to the right wing's predilection for dribbling to the corner post.

Soon after half-time, an injury to Coles seems to have infused some energy, and with Westbury tired out, School House drew level, and in the last few minutes should certainly have scored. Pearce i. in goal saved several hard shots. The Second XI. match was drawn, and in the Third, School House won.

CAMS v. SCHOOL HOUSE.

School House scored early, and Cams followed soon after. At half-time, though School House led, it was anyone's game. In the second half, School House played up well, and the forwards, well backed up by Cox at half and Eyles at back, did quite a lot of attacking. Cams played a disappointing game. Lee was fully supported by his other forwards and halves, of whom Edmunds alone played up to form. Cams won the 3rd XI., but most unexpectedly lost the 2nd, though their team was undoubtedly the stronger. In this match the "faventium clamores" played a decided part in the victory. Thus School House (as with its proper forward strength it should) won the cup after very nearly deserving to lose it.

RETROSPECT OF HOCKEY SEASON, 1918.

The season, as far as it went, provided some quite fair hockey. As some might expect, matches were scarce; and two wet Saturdays towards the end of the term robbed several teams of their games. In the two matches with the Naval Barracks the School were outplayed by a heavier and faster team. The opposing centre-forward was much too fast for the School defence; without him the scores would have been equal. The two matches with the R.M.L.I. Cadets at Forton gave us two victories. It was most regrettable that the Old Boys' match was scratched owing to rain, as we had looked forward to meeting Ferguson-Davie, the most promising of the School forwards in the first Past v. Present fixture of five years ago. It is difficult, and perhaps hardly fair, to criticise a team on the play of four matches, but some things are patent.

In the return match with the R.M.L.I. the School forwards should have scored more than two goals; it was not because they received no passes. The outside forwards too often make the corner posts as their main objectives, while the inside meander or pass out when they should shoot at once. Coles at centre was almost too unselfish—a good fault, however, as it is not a centre-forward's sole business to dribble through, but to regulate strategic moves and shoot when the ball is passed in from the wings. The backs have learnt to hit hard, but have not yet enough pace to take the inside forwards, as they should, leaving the outsides to the wing halves; too often both back and wing-half are to be seen chasing a comparatively harmless outside forward, who has merely to pass in quickly to the expectant and unmarked insides. The halves should learn in feeding forwards to use the "push" stroke, which is quicker, more accurate, and very difficult to intercept.

The First proved too strong for the S.H.L., and in the return the Second made a very equal game. An "A" team beat the Island Ladies, and the Second drew rather luckily.

Orme Lodge provided two matches for very Junior teams.

CHARACTERS OF THE XI.

Scott, R. B. Inside Left (Capt.)

Clever with his stick, but weak near the circle, and does not work the ball back to the centre from his wing. Got through a lot of useful work in the House matches.

Lee, J. M. Goal.

Is more certain with hard shots than with slower cross ones ; the latter perhaps were mostly owing to a camouflaged ball on the U.S. ground.

Kirk, D. R.

Showed to good advantage in the Naval Barracks matches, as he has pace ; but he is too inclined to undercut the ball.

Eyles, W. C. A. Left-back.

Owing chiefly to measles, missed all the matches and his colours, which he would certainly have won. Can play on the left wing, and clears well and hard.

Gregory, D. E.

He tires rather easily, was unlucky in casualties. His stick play and intercepting of passes are good.

Martelli, C. R. Centre-half.

Dribbles well, and has a good eye, but must learn to pass quicker.

Coles, A. Centre-forward.

Shoots hard and well, and has plenty of dash.

Baker, W. C. Outside-right.

Played his best game in the first R.M.L.I. match. Centres well from the wing.

Misselbrook, A. E. Outside-left.

Quite neat, but does not go hard enough or make openings for himself or his inside forwards.

Edmunds, D.

A steady back, who clears well, but he is depressingly slow in turning when a forward has passed him.

The following have also played for the First:—

Ivens.—Has plenty of go, but loses his head near the circle.

Scott, R. H.—Must learn that an outside forward has not a monopoly of the ball, and does not often shoot.

Chignell.—Very neat with his stick, and is not afraid to try to make openings.

Beyond those mentioned after the 1st XI., Pattenden has some idea of dribbling, but is too slow. Marriott should learn to hit harder and pass sooner. Horner, though slow, is neat. Hawkins plays well with his stick. Etheridge clears well, but is too deliberate in his movements.

Cricket.

PRICE'S SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. ST. HELEN'S COLLEGE 1ST XI.

This match, the first of the season, was played at Fareham on May 15th, and aroused great interest, as our opponents had previously beaten Portsmouth Grammar School 1st XI. The School batted first, and Lee and Misselbrook opened the innings. Lee was soon out to a good ball from Brunker, and Baker, who followed, quickly succumbed. A good stand was made by Misselbrook and Martelli, who put on 33 runs before the former was bowled. Eyles joined Martelli, but was bowled after making 2. Edmunds followed, and the score was raised to 79 before Martelli, who had played vigorous, if rather lucky cricket, was caught for an exceedingly useful 45. The score was raised to 106 for 8 wickets when Lee declared. Edmunds carried his bat for a sound and well played innings of 31. The St. Helen's innings was opened by Nash and Cochrane to be bowling of Baker and Edmunds. A separation was soon effected, and the visitors did little against steady and good bowling. The School fielding was smart, good catches being made by Martelli, Edmunds and Scott i. St. Helen's were all out for 45, leaving us winners by 61 runs. A good start to our season. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.				ST. HELEN'S COLLEGE.
J. M. Lee, b Brunker	1	Cochrane. c Martelli, b Baker	4
A. E. Misselbrook, b Way i.	..	17		Nash, b Edmunds	8
W. C. Baker, c Brunker, b Way i.	..	1		Gibbings, run out	6
C. R. Martelli, c Nash, b	..			Way i., b Baker	8
Wadeson	45	Brunker, b Baker	4
W. C. A. Eyles, b Way i.	..	2		Ryan, c and b Edmunds	1
D. Edmunds, not out	31	Wadeson, b Baker	5
G. Horner, b Brunker	2	Kay, run out	6
D. E. Gregory, c Gibbings, b Nash	..	0		Way ii., c Scott i., b Edmunds	0
G. D. Etheridge, b Brunker	..	1		Spiers, b Baker	0
R. H. Scott, not out	1	Ellis, not out	2
Extras	1	Extras	1
V. Cox did not bat.
Total (for 8 wkts.)*106				Total .. 45

*Innings declared closed.

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

			Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	9	1	14	5
Edmunds	9	1	27	3

SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. ELECTRICAL APPRENTICES, PORTSMOUTH.

This match was played on the School ground on May 25th, and resulted in a good win for the School by 56 runs. The visitors won the toss and batted first. They were, however, unable to do much against Baker's really fine bowling, steadily supported by Edmunds at the other end. Both bowlers were backed up by excellent fielding, fine catches being made by Lee (3), Misselbrook, Reeves and Scott i. The innings closed for 23. Lee and Misselbrook opened the School innings, but with only 5 on the board Misselbrook was bowled by Leat. Baker joined Lee, and a stand was made. Both played good cricket, and the visitors' score was successfully passed before Lee was caught at slip for 14. Baker and Eyles each made 15. The rest of the side did nothing. The innings closed for 79. Baker took 7 wickets for 8 runs. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.			ELECTRICAL APPRENTICES, H.M. DOCKYARD, PORTSMOUTH.
J. M. Lee, c Leat, b Rowe	..	14	Langer, c Misselbrook, b Baker	o
A. E. Misselbrook, b Leat	..	2	Orme, b Baker	..	7
W. C. Baker, c and b Orme	..	15	Dibbin, c Scott, b Baker	..	4
C. R. Martelli, b Richardson	..	1	Rowe, c Reeves, b Edmunds	..	2
D. Edmunds, c Langer, b Richardson	..	1	Leat, lbw., Baker	..	6
W. C. A. Eyles, b Leat	..	15	Hall, b Baker	..	o
G. Horner, b Leat	..	6	Abinett, c Lee, b Baker	..	3
G. D. Etheridge, b Hall	..	10	Richardson, b Edmunds	..	1
R. G. Reeves, not out	..	8	Penfold, b Baker	..	o
R. H. Scott, b Hall	..	o	Paske, not out	..	o
V. J. Cox, b Hall	..	o	Forward, c Lee, b Edmunds	..	o
Extras	..	7	Extras	..	o
Total	..	79	Total	..	23

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	6	2	8	7
Edmunds	5	2	14	3

PRICE'S SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE 1ST XI.

This match was played on the School ground on Wednesday, May 29th, and resulted in a very easy win for the School by an innings and 121 runs. Lee won the toss and batted first, taking Misselbrook to open the innings with him. Both started confidently, but with 10 runs on the board Lee was out. Martelli played an excellent innings of 77; his hits included 8 boundaries. The innings closed for 150. St. John's made little stand against Baker and Edmunds, both of whom bowled finely, each taking 5 wickets for 7 runs. The innings closed for 14. St. John's followed on, and were disposed of for 15 runs. Scores and analysis:—

The Iton.

P.S.C.C.

J. M. Lee, b Heraclio	7
A. E. Misselbrook, c Saton, b R. Allen	17
W. C. Baker, b Francisco	11
C. R. Martelli, c W. Allen, b Francisco	77
D. Edmunds, c Saton, b Heraclio	6
W. C. A. Eyles, b Heraclio	0
G. Horner, b Francisco	10
G. D. Etheridge, run out	1
R. G. Reeves, b R. Allen	10
R. H. Scott, not out	2
V. J. Cox, b R. Allen	5
Extras	4
Total	150

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE.

First Innings.				Second Innings.
Heraclio, b Baker	3		c and b Lee	1
R. Allen, b Edmunds	0		c Martelli, b Scott i.	3
Francisco, b Edmunds	5		c and b Lee	0
W. Allen, b Baker	2		c Lee, b Scott i.	5
Handley, c Martelli, b Edmunds	0		c and b Lee	4
Whelan, b Baker	0		c Martelli, b Scott	0
Willicott, b Baker	2		b Cox..	..	1
Martin, b Edmunds..	..	0		b Lee..	..	0
Saton, c Martelli, b Edmunds	0		not out	0
Makie, not out	1		b Etheridge	0
John, b Baker	0		b Cox..	..	0
Extras	1		Extras	1
Total	14		Total	15

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker ..	5.3	1	7	5
Edmunds ..	5	1	7	5
Second Innings.
Lee..	4	1	5	4
Scott ..	3	0	8	3
Etheridge ..	2	1	1	1
Cox ..	1.4	1	0	2

PRICE'S SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. PORTSMOUTH GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This match was played at Hilsea on Saturday, June 1st, and resulted in a narrow win for our opponents by 11 runs. The Grammar School won the toss and batted first, making a total of 81. The team evidently possessed no "tail," as the later batsmen did quite as well as those higher on the list. Baker accomplished the rare feat of "doing the hat trick," getting Bath, Green and Paver with successive balls. The School fielding was good, Lee, Martelli, and Reeves doing especially well. Lee and Misselbrook opened the School innings, and made a good steady start. After the captain was bowled by Sutton a "rot" set in, and with the exception of Misselbrook, Horner and Etheridge, no batsman stayed long until Cox and Scott became associated for the last wicket. A stand was made, and 26 runs were put on before Cox was caught in the deep field for a vigorous innings of 20. With a little luck, the plucky batting of Scott would have won the game for the School. Scores:—

PORTSMOUTH GRAMMAR SCHOOL.				P.S.C.C.
Parker, b Baker	12	J. M. Lee, b Sutton	4
Nancarrow, c Martelli, b Baker	10	A. C. Misselbrook, b Sutton	15
Sutton, b Baker	17	W. C. Baker, b Nancarrow	3
Palmer, b Edmunds	1	C. R. Martelli, b Sutton	5
Bath, b Baker	7	D. Edmunds, b Nancarrow	1
Green, c and b Baker	0	W. C. A. Eyles, c McKay, b Sutton	0
Paver, c Misselbrook, b Baker	0	G. Horner, c Paver, b Sutton	7
Bramble, b Baker	7	G. D. Etheridge, b Sutton	6
McKay, c and b Edmunds	12	R. G. Reeves, c and b Green	0
Ward, c Reeves, b Edmunds	8	R. H. Scott, not out	5
Parkis, not out	0	V. J. Cox, c Ward, b Sutton	20
Extras	7	Extras	4
Total	81	Total	70

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	10	0	34	7
Edmunds	7.3	1	32	3
Etheridge	2	0	8	0

PRICE'S SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. MILE END HOUSE.

This match was played on the School field on Saturday, June 8th, and resulted in a win for the School by 119 runs. Mile End House won the toss and put us in. Lee and Misselbrook opened the innings and made a fine first wicket stand. Lee played with extreme confidence and freedom, while Misselbrook batted with his customary care and precision. The partnership produced 55 runs before Misselbrook was bowled by a fine ball from Wright. Lee reached his 50 amid cheers. With the score at 150, Lee reached his century after batting nearly two hours. He remained undefeated until, with the score at 174 for 8 wickets, the innings was declared. Apart from a difficult chance when in the sixties, his innings was quite good and included 7 boundaries and 7 threes. Mile End House made 55 against the bowling of Baker and Lee, both of whom were difficult to play. Edmunds distinguished himself in the field. The fielding of both sides was smart and keen. The bowling of Wright and Golding for the losers deserves mention. Both kept a steady and good length under severe punishment. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.				MILE END HOUSE.
J. M. Lee, not out	112	Lewis, b Baker	4
A. E. Misselbrook, b Wright	11	Blockley, c Edmunds, b Baker	4
W. C. Baker, b Golding	4	Hibberd, b Baker	0
C. R. Martelli, run out	2	Dear, c Edmunds, b Lee	0
D. Edmunds, c Payne, b Wright	8	Wright, b Lee	3
W. C. A. Eyles, b Wright	8	Payne, not out	24
G. Horner, b Golding	17	Preston, b Baker	5
G. D. Etheridge, b Wright	0	Golding, b Baker	4
R. G. Reeves, c Wright, b Golding	7	Stevens, b Lee	4
R. H. Scott, not out	2	Sturgess, b Baker	2
V. J. Cox, did not bat.		Waugh, b Lee	0
Extras	3	Extras	5
Total (for 8 wks.)*174				Total	55

*Innings declared closed.

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	11	2	25	6
Lee	6.3	2	14	4
Edmunds	2	0	3	0
Etheridge	2	1	7	0

PRICE'S SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. ST. HELEN'S COLLEGE 1ST XI.

This match was played at Southsea on Wednesday, June 12th, and resulted in a win for the School by 33 runs. The pitch, which can only be described as rustic, kept the scores low on both sides, but the game was very keenly contested. The School batted first, Lee and Misselbrook being the first pair. Misselbrook was caught at cover with 5 runs on the board, and Lee was bowled in the next over. Baker made two fine boundaries after surviving a confident appeal for a catch at the wicket. Martelli made 27 by good, dashing cricket. The innings closed for 55. The St. Helen's innings was shortlived, Baker and Edmunds being in deadly form, especially the former, who beat the batsmen time after time. They were supported by excellent School fielding. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.				ST. HELEN'S COLLEGE.
J. M. Lee, b Way i.	6	Nash, lbw. Edmunds	2
A. E. Misselbrook, c Nash, b Way i.	0	Cochrane, b Baker	0
W. C. Baker, c and b Brunker	10	Way i., c Martelli, b Edmunds	2
C. R. Martelli, c Wadeson, b Way i...	27	Brunker, b Baker	1
D. Edmunds, not out	4	Gibbings, c Horner, b Baker	5
W. C. A. Eyles, b Way i.	1	Ryan, b Baker	1
G. Horner, b Way i.	0	Wadeson, c and b Baker	0
G. D. Etheridge, b Way i.	2	Way ii., c Horner, b Edmunds	5
R. G. Reeves, b Brunker	3	Kay, b Baker	0
R. H. Scott, c Wadeson, b Brunker	1	Spiers, b Edmunds	3
V. J. Cox, b Way i.	0	Warson, not out	2
Extras	1	Extras	1
Total	55	Total	22

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

			Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	6	1	9	6
Edmunds	6	0	12	4

PRICE'S SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. MUNICIPAL COLLEGE 1ST XI.

This match was played on the School ground on Saturday, June 22nd, and resulted in a win for the School by 56 runs. The School batted first, and Lee, as usual, opened the innings with Misselbrook. This partnership provided the brightest and best cricket of the day, both batsmen playing with confidence and freedom. Lee unluckily played on with the score at 30. Baker followed, and 20 runs were added before he was caught in the slips. Martelli, the next batsman, ran himself out in attempting a ridiculous run. Misselbrook played well for his 21. The innings closed for 90. Our opponents replied with 34, Sherwin and Jenkins both batting steadily. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.				MUNICIPAL COLLEGE.
J. M. Lee, b Sherwin	19		Earle, c Misselbrook, b Baker	0
A. E. Misselbrook, b Sherwin	21			Jenkins, b Baker	6
W. C. Baker, c Wood, b Sherwin	10			Saunders, lbw, b Edmunds	..	0
C. R. Martelli, run out ..	5			Sherwin, b Edmunds	11
D. Edmunds, b Sherwin ..	2			Day, c Martelli, b Baker	..	4
W. C. A. Eyles, c Sherwin, b				Chapman, b Edmunds	..	0
Day	1		Way, c Martelli, b Edmunds	0
G. Horner, c Day, b Jenkins ..	2			Wood, lbw, b Lee	0
G. D. Etheridge, b Sherwin ..	2			Wilkins, b Lee	3
R. G. Reeves, c and b Jenkins	8			Lee, not out	6
R. H. Scott, not out ..	6			Vaughan, c Scott, b Lee	..	0
V. J. Cox, c Way, b Sherwin..	4
Extras	10		Extras	4
Total ..	90			Total ..	34

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

		Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	..	8	2	9	3
Edmunds	..	10	1	21	4
Lee	2.2	1	1	3

SCHOOL 1ST XI. v. PORTSMOUTH GRAMMAR SCHOOL 2ND XI.

This match was played on the School ground on Saturday, June 29th, and aroused great interest, as our opponents were the only team who had defeated the School team this season. A well contested game ended in a win for the School by 40 runs. Our defeat at Portsmouth thus was amply avenged. The School batted first, Lee and Eyles making a good start. The former was unlucky in being caught. Eyles played really well for his 23, and Martelli, after an appalling start, made 35 by bright cricket. Reeves (15), Baker (10), and Misselbrook (10) also batted well. The innings closed for 113. The Grammar School batting collapsed, six wickets being down for 16, but Paver i., Paver ii., and Lidiard by careful batting brought the score to 73, leaving the School victors as stated. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.		PORTSMOUTH GRAMMAR SCHOOL.
J. M. Lee, c Bramble, b Sutton	7	Sutton, b Edmunds	9
W. C. A. Eyles, c Paver, b Nancarrow	23	Nancarrow, c Martelli, b Baker	0
C. R. Martelli, c Sutton, b Parker	35	Parker, c Martelli, b Edmunds	4
A. E. Misselbrook, c Sutton, b Paver	10	Bramble, b Baker	3
W. C. Baker, b Parker	10	Bath, b Edmunds	0
D. Edmunds, c Sutton, b Paver	6	Paver i., b Lee	12
G. Horner, c Parker, b Paver ..	0	Ward, b Edmunds	0
G. D. Etheridge, b Paver ..	2	Paver ii., c and b Edmunds ..	17
R. G. Reeves, not out	15	Mariot, b Lee	1
R. H. Scott, b Paver	0	Lidiard, not out	14
V. J. Cox, b Sutton	4	Bennett, b Baker	3
Extras	1	Extras	10
Total ..	113	Total ..	73

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

	Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	10	0	29	3
Edmunds	6	1	19	5
Lee	3	0	15	2

SCHOOL 1st XI. v. ELECTRICAL APPRENTICES, PORTSMOUTH.

This match was played on the School ground on Saturday, July 6th. The School team was not at full strength, J. M. Lee (captain), G. Horner, and H. R. Scott being absentees. Flint and Henry being substitutes. Baker, who was acting as captain, won the toss and batted first, the side putting together the respectable total of 131. The visitors could do nothing against the bowling of Baker and Edmunds and were all out for 18. They followed on and, opposed by our change bowlers, ran up a total of 58. The School thus won by an innings and 55 runs. The fielding of the School side was, as usual, smart and keen. Scores and analysis:—

P.S.C.C.
A. E. Misselbrook, b Rowe	9
W. C. A. Eyles, lbw., Rowe	20
C. R. Martelli, b Parke	2
W. C. Baker, c Smith, b Parke	24
D. Edmunds, c Lush, b Parke	10
G. Etheridge, b Parke,	4
R. G. Reeves, b Parke	17
V. J. Cox, b Rowe	15
E. Hawkins, c Henry, b Parke	16
B. R. Scott, b Rowe	10
D. E. Gregory, not out	0
Extras	4
Total	131

ELECTRICAL APPRENTICES.

First Innings.				Second Innings.
Parke, c Martelli, b Baker..	..	0		b Cox	1
Penfold, b Edmunds	0		c Misselbrook, b Etheridge	0
Rowe, b Edmunds	4		not out	25
Lush, b Baker	0		b Etheridge	0
Diben, b Baker	0		absent
Forward, c Cox, b Baker	4		c Edmunds, b Etheridge	4
Finch, not out	3		b Etheridge	4
Hunt, b Baker	0		b Etheridge	1
Smith, b Edmunds	3		run out	0
Flint, b Edmunds	1		c Cox, b Martelli	2
Henry, c and b Baker	0		b Martelli	13
Extas	3		Extras	8
Total	18		Total	58

BOWLING ANALYSIS.

		Overs.	Mdns.	Runs.	Wkts.
Baker	4.4	1	7	6
Edmunds	4	1	7	4
Second Innings.
Etheridge..	..	8	1	19	5
Cox	4	1	17	1
Martelli	3.2	0	11	2

Corps Notes.

Promotions. June, 1918:—

Cadet B. R. Scott to be Lance-Corporal.

Cadet A. E. Misselbrook to be Lance-Corporal.

The Corps has kept up to a strength of 70, and parades have been held regularly with excellent attendances. Drills have been smartly carried out, and the cadets have shown much aptitude in field operations, notably in those against the Portsmouth Junior Technical (D) Company.

One complaint I feel bound to make, and that is concerning the slackness of the boys of the Botley line, with the exception of Cadet Hooker-Taylor. Cadets Etheridge, Martelli, and Redstone have attended few parades, and on several occasions have absented themselves without leave from their section commanders, presumably because they had no adequate excuse for asking leave off. Otherwise the work of the Corps has been extremely satisfactory. One word to the junior N.C.O.'s, and that is, never to exhibit levity when drilling a squad. The effect on discipline is disastrous.

FIELD DAY.

" H " COY. 6TH C.B. HANTS. REGIMENT

v.

" D " COY. 6TH C.B. HANTS. REGIMENT.

On Saturday, June 15th, a Field Day was held, the contesting companies being the School (" H ") Company and the Junior Technical School (" D ") Company, Portsmouth.

" D " Company, which comprised 3 officers and 110 N.C.O.'s and men, held a front of about one mile, their position stretching north from the Peel Road. The School Company, 65 strong, endeavoured to get one man, with a message, across the Gosport-Fareham Railway and to report at Bridgemary. Sergt.-Major Lee had Acting-Sergt. Chignell, Lc.-Cpl. Horner, and 16 cadets (No. 1 Section) under him, and succeeded in getting the whole of his command through, after capturing 10 of the " enemy." Cpl. Frost had 6 cadets of Section 3 under his charge, and also succeeded in reaching Bridgemary without losing a man. Lc.-Cpl. Misselbrook safely reached his objective with 3 cadets of Section 2. Lc.-Cpl. Swaffield, with seven of Section 4, gained his objective with great difficulty. Lc.-Cpl. Scott and Cadet Teek were also successful, as was Capt. Bradly, who worked through alone. Lieut. Gale, working alone, Sergt. Scott with 15 cadets, Cpl. Gregory with a squad of 6, and three isolated scouts of " H " Company were captured. This 40 of the School Company reached their objective, while 25 were captured.

This result was exceedingly satisfactory, as the enemy line was very strongly held, and also, the enemy possessed a field " buzzer " telephone, which helped in the capture of several of our cadets. The discipline of the company was good, the silence in advancing being most marked.

Operations began at 4 p.m., and ended at 6.30 p.m.

J.M.L.

Shooting Notes.

SECTION SHOOTING—EASTER TERM, 1918.

The Shooting again showed an improvement, all sections shooting steadily. Out of a possible 8400 the corps obtained 5548, a percentage of 66 per cent. No. 4 Section again won the cup, and No. 2 Section were again runners-up.

Lieut. Gale's prize for the highest individual score in section shooting was won by Cadet Dodridge with 158 out of a possible 175.

Capt. Bradley's prizes for recruits were won by Cadets Maule-Cole and Littlejohn with scores of 125 and 132 respectively. Scores:—

	Possible.	Obtained.	Per cent.
1st. No. 4 Section.	2100	1457	69.3
Sergt. Scott	148	out of 175
Cadet Teek	145	„ 175
2nd. No. 2 Section.	2100	1413	67.4
Cadet Dodridge	158	out of 175
Cadet Etheridge	144	„ 175
3rd. No. 1 Section.	2100	1395	66.4
Cpl. Chignell.....	145	out of 175
Cpl. Biden.....	138	„ 175
4th. No. 3 Section.	2100	1263	60.1
Sergt. Tappenden	137	out of 175
Cadet Edmunds	128	„ 175

XII. SHOOTING.

The shooting of the XII. has again been consistently good. The Cup has been won for the first time by Cadet Dimmer, Cadet Etheridge being runner up. Scores:—

1st. Cadet Dimmer ..	344	3rd. Sergt. Scott ..	341
2nd. Cadet Etheridge..	343	4th. Cadet Biden ..	339

SHOOTING MATCH.

OFFICER, WARRANT OFFICER AND N.C.O.'S PRICE'S CADET
CORPS, 2ND C.B. HANTS. REGT.,

v.

OFFICERS, WARRANT OFFICER AND N.C.O.'S FAREHAM COY.
3RD HANTS. VOLUNTEER REGT.

Fired on the Fareham Range on Monday, July 17th, 1918.
Result was a win for the School by 27 points.

FAREHAM VOLUNTEERS.			SCHOOL CADETS.
Lieut. Bradly	39	Lieut. Gale	34
2nd Lieut. Shilling	31	Sergt.-Major Lee	21
Sergt.-Major Bussey	33	Sergt. Scott	37
Q.-M.-S. Parker	4	Cpl. Chignell	38
Sergt. Dunn	32	Cpl. Gregory	27
Sergt. Driver	32	Cpl. Frost	23
Sergt. Waters	21	Cpl. Swaffield	34
Cpl. Chase	26	Lce.-Cpl. Eyles	22
Cpl. Warren	28	Lce.-Cpl. Horner	26
Cpl. Drewitt	30	Lce.-Cpl. Scott	34
Lce.-Cpl. Dodge	20	Lce.-Cpl. Misselbrook		27
<hr/>			<hr/>
296			323

School News.

Edmunds, Martelli, and Horner have been awarded 1st XI. Colours, and Cox, 2nd XI. Colours.

Lilleywhite has qualified as a Dockyard Apprentice.

A very interesting lecture was given at the School on Thursday, 27th June, by a Mr. Wyatt, of the Naval Intelligence Department, on "How the Navy is dealing with the Submarines."

The Term ends on Saturday, July 27th, and the Christmas Term begins on Tuesday, September 17th.

Old Boys' News.

D. Whale, joining Artists' Rifles.

E. Fry, 2nd Lieut. R.A.F., Egypt.

E. Cottingham, Sergt. R.E., recently back from German East Africa.

Heath, Devons, applying for Officer Cadetship.

L. Harvey, R.A.F. Cadet School, pilot.

W. V. Woodward, R.A.F. Cadet School, pilot.

A. E. Palmer, wounded by shrapnel, and mustard gassed, in hospital.

S. Pether, in hospital at Brockenhurst.

F. Swaffield, R.A.F.

A. W. Draper, Sub-Lieut. R.N.V.R.

E. Dover, Commander of a Tank (France).

C. F. Coghlan, badly gassed, in hospital in France.

E. R. Hills, had six weeks' leave on completing Territorial Agreement.

E. Coles, bullet in liver, still in hospital.

E. Packham, 2nd Lt. A.S.C., attached Royal Sussex.

W. Owton, Sub-Lieut. R.N. Transport.

Correspondence.

Dear Sir,

An Old Boys' Blazer, Dark Blue (plain), with gilt buttons, and embroidered Lion Badge has been authorized for about six years. Perhaps your correspondent wants something more showy. X.

Notice to Subscribers.

The Annual Subscription to "The Lion" is two shillings, post free. All P.O.O.'s should be made payable to The Editor, Price's School, Fareham, Hants., to whom all communications should be addressed.

The Editor hopes that Old Boys will kindly keep him informed of anything of interest, concerning themselves or others, suitable for insertion.

Back numbers may be had, price 6d. each, on application to the Editor.

“The Lion” will not be sent when there is an amount owing for more than three numbers.

Notice to Correspondents.

It is desirable that all Correspondence should be written on ONE side of the paper only.

The name of the writer should accompany the nom de plume otherwise the contribution will not be inserted.

The Editor retains the power of inserting Contributions at his own discretion.